hi zzoozz,

you should observe the early sign which is vaginal discharge it's the amniotic fluid then you should prepare yourself for delivery as you are about to deliver within hours and call your doctor to inform him.

then wait for the painful uterine contractions the more painful the contractions the more easier and quicker the delivery :lol:

women always bit their husbands during these contractions i think they should share with her the pain i advice you to walk these days at least 15 min a day this facilitate the delivery we are waiting for your baby's photo in the baby contest
